

Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha is located 22 kilometers down Moi South Lake Road, Naivasha and is an integral part of Elsamere and was established in 1989. It continues the conservation work started by the Adamson's and offers a wide range of educational programmes for teachers, pupils and community leaders.

Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha is also frequently host to important conferences and research seminars concerned with local, national and international conservation issues. Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha provides dormitory accommodation for up to 56 students with an additional 4 cottages for staff as well as a large well equipped conference room and laboratory.

www.crocodileracers.com

Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha team can provide an interesting range of organized environmental activities on site including bird watching, nature walks and tree planting as well as visits to local areas of conservation interest such as Hells Gate and Nakuru National Park.

If preferred, teachers or group leaders may arrange their own programmes using the available Kitchen Garden facilities. Day visits are also catered for and backed up by outreach visits to local schools.

Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha Facilities

Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha has accommodation for 62 people (4 double rooms for team leaders and 3 blocks/dormitories with a bed capacity of 54) in full or half board basis.

Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha sources local fresh food for the dining room & kitchen offering 3 course main meals with tea breaks at 10am and 4pm for both visiting and resident guests.

Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha has two conference halls with a capacity of 25 and 50 people respectively and are fully equipped with TV/video, overhead projector/ screen, writing materials, flip charts/ marker pens, LCD projector and extensive grounds for workshop and/or conference events.

The scientific laboratory has basic equipment; researchers are encouraged to bring their own specific instruments/chemicals. Elsamere Field Study Centre Naivasha premises also include offices and store rooms.