

Loyk Mara Camp is located in one of the most picturesque places of Olare Orok conservancy on the bank of river Ntiakitiak which is a natural border between Maasai lands and National Park Maasai Mara - the richest national reserve of Kenya. Settled down in the middle of the African bush, Loyk Mara Camp will present to you a sensation of privacy and rest, granting a vivifying cool under the shade of sprawling canopies of undersized trees within a hot day. Spacious open terraces with comfortable armchairs and coffee tables will allow you to enjoy at any time the bewitching African nature.

Loyk Mara Camp is very unique and exclusive, with a limited amount of camps and loggies. Common areas, recreational zones as well as viewing points permit you to observe uncountable herds of zebras, antelopes and gazelles and at times to become witness of the big cats hunting – and relax completely!

Elephants and giraffes love LOYK Mara because of abundance of green. The river banks are favourite places for hippo's. Another unique feature of LOYK is a ceremonial place where Masai tribesmen are following the initiations ceremony. Keeping inviolable this place, our camp gives visitors the unique possibility to observe this sacrament which is taking place in immediate proximity of the lobby.
