

Acacia House is a small, fairly simple private house at the foot of Kipileo Hill in the Olchorro Losoit valley, within the Lemek hills, far from the tourist trail and within the 70,000 acre Mara North Conservancy area (one of the community conservation areas) just north of the Masai Mara Game Reserve. Acacia House bush Lodge is located in a secluded valley in the north of the Masai Mara Northern Conservancy, at an altitude of 6,200 feet and overlooks the famous Rekeru waterhole.

From the comfort on ones verandah, Acacia House bush Lodge guests can enjoy a vast array of wildlife and birdlife at very close quarters. This stunning private house, complete with its own swimming pool, offers comfortable accommodation for up to six guests in an exclusive corner of the Masai Mara and comes with its own staff, and a private guide and vehicle.

The living spaces dominate Acacia House beginning with a large, open-air verandah looking out over the famous Ol Chorro waterhole. This leads into an open-plan dining and seating area complete with log fire for those cooler nights in the bush. Beyond are two spacious double en-suite bedrooms and a third attic room, created specifically for younger guests. Acacia House Bush Home comes with a full complement of well-trained and experienced staff at guests' disposal to ensure all you have to do is enjoy the space and setting.

To the side of the house, raised above the waterhole, there is a pool and a barbecue area which provide a place to relax, dine and socialize between safari expeditions, particularly around sunset. This pool is shared with nearby Mara House. Acacia House Private Bush Home comes with a full complement of well-trained and experienced staff at guests disposal including a chef, wildlife guide and house manager to ensure a seamlessly-run safari experience which delivers the very best the Mara has to offer. It is an opportunity to explore this wilderness in the company of your personal Masai guide on your own terms.

Acacia House Bush Home concept is ideal for families looking for a settled hassle free experience, it really provides a more relaxing and affordable safari, a truly home away from home experience in the Masai Mara. Acacia House is privately owned by the Beatons (of Rekeru fame).

Acacia House Bush Home cost per person per night is from as little as 275 US Dollars (based on six sharing Guests and including all meals and drinks) which is very reasonable for a small Private Safari Camp, especially when you look at its exclusivity, location and quality of guiding. Whether for two or six people this offers excellent value and would be difficult to beat using the small safari camps Crocodile Racers Safaris usually recommend which start at around 430 US Dollars per person.
