

Samburu Simba Lodge is situated 300 km North of Nairobi in Buffalo Springs National Reserve within Isiolo District. Buffalo Springs is located on the banks of the Ewaso Nyiro River in Kenya; on the other side of the river is the Samburu National Reserve and nearby the famous Shaba National Reserve (Joy Adamson of 'Born Free' film).

Samburu Simba Lodge has 18 cottages, over 70 rooms in singles, doubles and interconnecting rooms. The rooms are spacious, well furnished with a reading desk and several lounge chairs. The bathrooms have a shower with warm or cold water.

All Samburu Simba Lodge rooms have an over head fan, telephone extension and reading desk. Guests will like the large terrace that faces the river valley below, especially in the morning when there is bird life and elephants roaming.

Other facilities at Samburu Simba Lodge include several conference rooms for over 100 delegates, business centre with photocopy, typing and internet access. You may just carry your mobile phone with you, there is network coverage at the lodge. Game drives are ideal in the early morning and in the evening when it is cool.

You can spend the mid day in the swimming pool, or at the lounge watching wildlife at a watering hole. Evenings after dinner at the restaurant, there is entertainment by the Samburu traditional dancers, relax at the lounge with a Tusker beer, or conversation with friends.
